

Anjali Reddy

From: Ana Kolodzinski [akolodzinski@clsdc.com]
Sent: Thursday, August 12, 2010 12:29 PM
To: Kenya
Subject: Kenyans voted for a new Constitution on August 4, 2010

Not seeing Images? View online

FACTS ON KENYA

Learn more about Kenya visit kenya.info.

- ▶ The new "Harmonized Constitution" will replace Kenya's old Constitution created at the time of independence in 1963.
- ▶ For the first time in Kenyan history, Kenyans will now be able to hold dual citizenship.
- ▶ The Constitution creates Kenya's first ever Supreme Court, establishes separation of powers, sets up a system of checks and balances and devolves power closer to the people.
- ▶ Kenya will now have a Bill of Rights that ensures equality, freedom from discrimination, religious freedoms, a free press, the right to a fair and speedy trial.

Source: Reuters

<http://af.reuters.com/article/kenyaNews/idAFLDE66T19A20100730>

Source: University of Wisconsin Law School

<http://www.law.wisc.edu/gls/cotkc.pdf>

Source: Daily Nation

<http://www.nation.co.ke/blob/view/885586/data/146392/-/fd8wu9/-/Download.pdf>

Source: The Standard

<http://www.standardmedia.co.ke/downloads/draft.constitution.pdf>

This material is distributed by Chlopak, Leonard, Schechter & Associates on behalf of the Office of the President of the Republic of Kenya. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.

This email was sent to kenya@clsdc.com. If you are no longer interested you can unsubscribe instantly.

Anjali Reddy

From: Anjali Reddy
Sent: Thursday, August 12, 2010 11:43 AM
To: Kenya
Subject: Global Economic Leaders Seize on Opportunities in EAC market
Attachments: image001.jpg; image002.jpg

BUSINESS DAILY

Global Economic Leaders Seize on Opportunities in EAC market
August 12, 2010

Global economic leaders are rushing to establish diplomatic footholds in the East African Community and establish trade and investment pacts under the EAC's newly formed Common Market.

Since May, the United States, Japan, Turkey, Netherlands and Denmark have sent envoys to present their credentials to the EAC headquarters in Arusha, Tanzania. The countries are searching for deeper partnerships that would enable them tap into new opportunities in a market with a combined GDP of $79 billion.

"The EAC common market presents bigger opportunities than individual countries. It also presents a gateway to the region," EAC Affairs Ministry Permanent Secretary David Nalo told Business Daily.

The United States and the EAC last year established a joint working group to spearhead co-operation initiatives and as a follow up to the Trade and Investment Framework Agreement (TIFA) signed between the U.S. and the EAC in July 2008.

TIFA's main role is to strengthen the U.S.-EAC trade and investment relationship, expand and diversify bilateral trade initiatives, such as the African Growth and Opportunity Act (AGOA), and improve the climate for business between the U.S. and the EAC.

In addition to economic opportunity, East Africa plays an important security role, serving as a bulwark against the instability of Somalia and the terror cells operating within its borders. In July 2009, U.S. Deputy Secretary of State for Management and Resources Jacob Lew toured the EAC headquarters and pledged his country's commitment to forging stronger relations with the region.

To read the original article, please click here.

For more information, please contact Anjali Reddy at (202) 777-3508 or areddy@clsdc.com.

This material is distributed by Chlopak, Leonard, Schechter & Associates on behalf of the Office of the President of the Republic of Kenya. Additional information is available at the Department of Justice, Washington, DC.